June 16, 2009 10:26 PM - Anne Sado is the new chair of Trillium Health Centre's board of directors.

Sado, who currently serves as president of George Brown College in Toronto, has been a member of the board since 2001, said Trillium president and CEO Janet Davidson.

"Trillium Health Centre is very fortunate to have Anne Sado, a strong, compassionate leader, as the new chair of our board of directors," said Davidson. "Our entire organization will benefit from the unique experiences she brings to the role and from her inspirational vision and commitment to providing our patients with the best possible experience."

Sado, who lives in Etobicoke, said it's an honour to continue to serve the community, now in a new role.

"I look forward to working with everyone at Trillium to further the progress we have made in providing safe, quality patient care while maintaining our reputation for innovation, excellence and prudent fiscal management," she said.

Other appointments to the board include William Rogers (managing director and CEO, CCC Investment Banking) as a vice-chair, Lloyd Posno as secretary and Janice Baker as treasurer.

New directors include Subhash Bhandari, president, Sugiga International Inc.; J. Fred Kuntz, past editor-in-chief, The Toronto Star; and Maureen Jensen, senior vice-president, Surveillance and Compliance, Investment Industry Regulatory Organization of Canada.
