

Trillium CEO receives Honorary Doctorate

Photo supplied

Janet Davidson, the President and CEO of the Trillium Health Centre in Mississauga received an Honorary Doctor of Laws degree today from the University of Windsor.

By: Julia Le

<http://www.mississauga.com/>

June 19, 2009 11:25 AM - Mississauga's Trillium Health Centre President and CEO Janet Davidson received an Honorary Doctor of Laws degree today for contributing to the advancement of law.

At the University of Windsor spring convocation today, the alumna, who graduated in 1971 with a bachelor's degree of science in nursing, said she was both thrilled and humbled to be recognized by her old university.

"I have been fortunate to have worked with and been mentored by so many wonderful, talented people in my volunteer work and my professional health care career, both of which are grounded in my experiences at the University's Faculty of Nursing," said Davidson, who has had more than 30 years of experience in health care management.

She also has more than 20 years experience as a Red Cross volunteer and board member.

The honorary doctorate is among many other high recognitions Davidson has received in the recent years.

She was appointed an Officer of the Order of Canada, an Officer of the Order of the Red Cross, she received the YMCA Woman of the Year Award in business and management and was named to Chatelaine magazine's Who's Who of Canadian Women.